CITIZENS BUILDING and LOAN ASSOCIATION. Knoxville, Tenn.

EXAMINER'S CERTIFICATE.

TO CERTIFY, That I have made a careful and complete examination of all the books, records and papers of the CITIZENS BUILDING and LOAN ASSOCIATION, of Tennessee, for the year ending June 30, 1892, and find that the same have been properly conducted, and proper deposits of securities made as required by the laws of the State, and I further find that the securities represented by the mortgage held by said Association are sufficient in value to cover the amount of cash loaned by said Association, under my hand at Knoxville, Tenn., this 31st day of December, 1892.

As soon as it was learned, upon recovery of the body, that the crime was so atrocious, the whole town turned out in the chase. The railroad was put on alert, offering free transportation to all who would join in the search. Purses went out in every direction, and not a stone was left unturned. Smith was tracked to Detroit on foot, where he jumped on a freight train and left for his old home, in Hempstead county, Arkansas. To this county he was tracked, and yesterday captured at Clow, a flag station on the Arkansas & Louisiana Railway, about twenty miles north of here.

Upon being questioned the fiend denied everything, but upon being stripped for examination, his under garments were seen to be bespattered with blood, and a part of his shirt was torn off. He was kept under heavy guard at Hope Thursday night, and later confessed the crime.

Arriving here at 12 o'clock, the train was met by a surging mass of humanity ten thousand strong. The negro was placed on a carnival float, in mockery of a king upon his throne, and followed by the immense crowd was escorted through the city so that all might see the most inhuman monster known in current history.

The line of march was up Main street to the public square, around the square, down Clarksville street to Church street, thence to the open prairie, about three hundred yards from the Texas and Pacific depot. Here Smith was placed upon a scaffold six feet square and ten feet high, securely bound, within view of all beholders. Here the victim was tortured for fifty minutes with red-hot iron brands thrust against his quivering body. Commencing at the feet, the brands were placed against his back by inch until they were thrust against the face. Then, being apparently dead, kerosene was poured upon him, cotton-seed balls placed beneath him and set on fire. In less time than it takes to relate it, the tortured man was wafted beyond the grave to another fire hotter and more terrible than the one just experienced. Curiosity seekers carried away all that was left of no memorable event, even to the pieces of the charcoal.

Every groan from the fiend, every contortion of his body was cheered by the thickly packed crowd of ten thousand people. The mass of beings was six hundred yards in diameter, the scaffold being the center. After burning the foot and legs, hot irons, plenty of fresh ones being at hand, were rolled up and down Smith's stomach, back and arms. The eyes were burned out and from there thrust down his nostrils. The men of the Vance family having wreaked vengeance, the crowd pulled all kind of combustible stuff around the scaffold, poured oil on it and set it afire. The negro rolled and wriggled, and tossed out of the mass only to be pushed back by the people nearest him. He tossed out again and was roped and pulled back. Hundred of people turned away but the vast crowd still looked calmly on. People were there from every part of this section. They came from Dallas, Ft. Worth, Sherman, Denison, Bonham, Texas, Kansas, Fort Smith, Ark., and a party of fifteen from Hempstead County, Ark., who he was captured. Every train that came in was loaded to its utmost capacity, and there were demands at many points for special trains to bring people here to see the unparalleled crime, and when the news of the burning went over the country, it was wild fire, at many towns anvils boomed forth the announcement.

INCENTIVE TO SMITH'S CRIME. The cause of the crime was that Henry Vance, when a deputy, Police-man, in the course of his duty was called upon to arrest Smith for being drunk and disorderly, the negro was unlawfully, and Vance was forced to use his club. The negro swore vengeance and several times assaulted Vance. In his greed for revenge he last Thursday grabbed up the little girl and committed the crime. The father is prostrated with grief, and the mother now lies at death's door, but she has lived to see the slayer of her innocent child suffer the most horrible death that could be conceived.

FOUND IT!

GAS WITH A BIG

G.

A Fine Flow of Natural Gas Struck Within the City of Mt. Sterling.

Much Excitement Over the Find.

Preparations Being Made to Further Prosecute the Search for Gas and Oil.

Other Wells Will be at Once Put Down.

Mt. Sterling Seems to be in it Beyond Question, and Her Future is Assured.

In it.

Yes, we are in it big.

The news has been heralded to the world, that Mr. Sterling has struck a rich find of natural gas of most excellent quality. This is simple truth. On last Tuesday afternoon, work was passed from 11 p.m. to 1 p.m. that a flow of gas had been struck, on the lot of Pickersell and Company, near the C. & O. depot, where the Mt. Sterling Natural Gas and Oil Company were boring. It was but a few minutes till a large crowd had gathered around the well, and a pipe was soon rigged up and the gas ignited. It proved to be of excellent quality, good both for illuminating and for fuel.

AN ACCOUNT OF THE WORK.

Last November, Major C. W. Fowler, who has made considerable study of natural gas, and who has had no small experience as an engineer in the gas sections of other States, after a diligent study of the situation in our section, became so firmly convinced that there was an abundance of natural gas and oil here, that he determined to organize a company for the purpose of boring for the same. He succeeded in winning to his views several of our best business men and the Mt. Sterling Natural Gas and Oil Company was formed. Later on an arrangement was made with the Messrs. Pickersell to have a well bored on their lot, on South Mayville street, near the C. & O. depot. The severe weather has interrupted the work so that up to Tuesday afternoon, a depth of only 185 feet had been reached. Before the boring had reached a depth of 20 feet, a "pocket" was struck which gave the projectors encouragement. On Tuesday afternoon, at the depth of 185 feet, gas was again encountered, the 2000 pound drill was lifted to the surface and the pressure was great enough to prevent further work till other arrangements could be made. Nothing further has been done up to this time to open up the "find."

THE GAS IGNITED.

Naturally the men in charge were rejoiced at the success that seemed to be assured to them. As the crowd began to swell around the well the preparations for piping it out of reach of the neighboring buildings were completed, and a 4 inch pipe was taken to the street, where the flame, 12 or 15 feet high, and as large as a bed quilt, waving in the air, and beside which the neighboring are lights were almost lost, made the people realize that our city is built over a natural gas reservoir, which only has to be opened up to mean immense wealth and much assured prosperity to our town.

NOW PART THE WORK HAS PROCEEDED.

The probability is that only a few wells have been struck in the rock through which there is a seep from the main reservoir. This is the opinion of a legal procedure to determine interest. Each party claims to be willing to stand by the provisions of their contract. However, this will make no difference; if these parties are tied up others will develop the territory.

NO MOON FOR MT. STERLING.

The business men of influence are determined as to this feature. There is no question but that property will advance, and that men in almost every vocation, who will attend to legitimate business without wild speculation, will grow up with a healthy and real progress.

But those of the speculative kind, who wish for a fortune in a day, and that without effort, will be disappointed. We can have the same wild unwarrented excitement here as at Middleboro, but it would be what is termed respectable gambling, and the collapse would be certain to follow.

We serve notice now, that in the event of unwarranted prices, being asked, we propose to have our say. We are for home and home prosperity, but we do not believe in fancy prices, and will help to the line, regardless as to whose interests we may hurt. Do the people want the reaction of a Wichita, a Decatur, a Pineville, a Middleboro, an Ashland, a Bigstone Gap, or a Winchester. We think not.

This can be avoided only by cool investors, men, bold enough to speak out in meeting, and in this we are persuaded that we will have the endorsement of the people.

much more.

Already in-house men and real estate owners are restless at night, and when weary and overcome for want of rest, morphia takes possession and at once they enter dream land, and for a few hours they enjoy their high-est anticipations.

Resident property sold before the find in the teens has advanced about $200, nothing, however, above real value. Undeveloped property sold at a few hundred dollars, has advanced $100 on each lot, and all offers rejected. One lot offered at $4,000, the owners rejected, last week $10,000 after the find, but it was worth the money offered, and was not on the market. Several lots have changed hands at their real value.

Letters have been received from different localities containing queries as to quality, quantity and pressure of the gas, and one party was here, last week representing capitalists, who control $100,000 for investment.

Mr. B. F. Robinson has purchased of Mr. E. S. Cunningham a lot on Lexington Avenue adjoining land already owned by him. Mr. Robinson will at once erect a cottage residence on his purchase.

THE ADVOCATE.

MR. CLEVELAND

A Man Who Knows How to Observe the Properties of Deceit.

"It has been the lot of Grover Cleveland," says the Philadelphia Telegraph (Rep.) "to do the right thing at the right time upon many occasions. This plain, blunt man, without any of the ordinary frills so often attached to men in public place, seems to have a knack of appearing on the scene at the timely moment, of saying just what should be said, and in the right manner. Nothing that the President-elect has ever done, either personally or officially, has more highly commended him to the good graces of the American people than his silent journey, from his midwinter retreat in the forests of New Jersey, to pay his last tribute of manly and patriotic respect to the memory of ex-President Hayes." "This action of Mr. Cleveland," says the Indianapolis News (Ind. Rep.), "shows his temper as a man as few actions have done, and it shows a temper of which Americans can be proud."

Elements of Success North and South.

The Chicago Times says Justice Lamar would have had little chance of success in public life were he a resident of one of the Northern States, yet it speaks of him as a high-minded and patriotic man, who never used official positions for furtherance of his private fortune, as a student, educator, soldier, legislator, diplomat, cabinet officer and jurist, and he "lacked all the arts that make Senators in the North." It would be hard to draw a severer indictment than this against the North. If a man who is patriotic, high-minded, scholarly, honest, eloquent, and has been a soldier, a student, a lawyer, a maker and a professor, is considered ill-qualified for public office in the North, what sort of a man does the Times think fitted to hold public office?

"After an experience of thirty years the English Government has withdrawn the right of jury trial from its Indian subjects, and loud protests are made throughout the various districts where it was enjoyed. The reason assigned for this un-Anglo-Saxon step is the impossibility of convicting Hindoo guilty of serious offenses. In other words, it is impossible "to get twelve honest men in the jury-box," a problem in which, according to a celebrated English statesman, the real reason of government consists. The jury system is not only of Anglo-Saxon origin, but it is peculiarly suited to the Anglo-Saxon character, and among our people has become so deeply rooted either in their jurisprudence or affections. The fact that it does not operate successfully in India is a reflection on the Hindoos and not on the system.

The New York Sun says that John G. Carlisle, as Secretary of the Treasury, will favor taxing tea, coffee and sugar, but no other paper, Democratic or Republican, has been able to confirm this statement.

A St. Louis woman has recently perfected a singular invention. She has applied for a patent to cover the process of making "sweet potato flour." The processes are those of peeling the potato and skin-drying the peel so that it will keep for a length of time as a food for live stock, of grinding and drying the potato into three distinct grades of flour, and also of sieving and drying it in the form of "Saratoga chips."

A cooking club in Washington was broken up by matrimony in less than a year. Each member in turn ordered, cooked, and served a dinner. Each one had the privilege of inviting a man to judge the cooking. Every man invited fell in love with a cook. One girl was a "raging belle." She knew the secret of cooking a good beefsteak. To win a sweetheart from a beefsteak is not poets, but the aftermath is.

A German philosopher asserts that physiologically a woman is more musically constituted than a man, and lack of opportunity and means of development her power has stifled the genius of woman in many women. The pathetic story of Franz Mendelssohn bears out the theory, for had her parents instead of preaching down their daughter's genius, encouraged and fostered it, there might have been a woman composer great enough to refute the charge of lack of originality in women.

IN THE NORTHWEST.
Maginnis' Flying Feet Did Not Stop Until Danais's Gun Was Empty.

Romeo Maginnis never took a dancing lesson in his life, but he performed some terrific stunts yesterday morning in an Alibi-street saloon that neither Carmenita nor Little Collins could surpass in point of agile audacity, says the Portland Oregonian. The accompanying music was the merry crackle of a six-shooter, manipulated by Joe Danais. Romeo did not desire to dance until Jesse began to play. Then the impulse to cut pigeons wings, twist curly-cues, shuffle and rag was more than Romeo could resist. Two or three dozen spectators were present when the entertainment opened, but, for reasons that this narrative shall explain, they did not remain to witness the grand finale.

The story goes that Romeo, who is a gambler, had a dispute with a brother knight of chance named Nolan, and Danais, who also professionally wows the flirtatious goddess, took up Nolan's end of the controversy. Romeo and Nolan were satisfied to settle their quarrel through the arbitration of fists. But Danais was not content with any such tame and vulgar method. He received his sporting education in the milling camps of the Rockies, where the revolver is an indispensable portion of every gentleman's wearing apparel, and where the custom is to emphasize the defeat of a foreman by compelling him to dance. That's how Danais celebrated his victory over Romeo.

"Let's see you dance," it was the tone in which the mandate was uttered, and the best-dressed upon his favorite banion by Danais's six-shooter that impelled Romeo to obey. His first movement was a Boston dip toward the door, but a bullet that came within an ace of amputating one of his toes caused him suddenly to change his direction.

"Faster!" An old-fashioned head-on was the response, but it was not rapid enough for Danais, who is famed for demanding quick action for his money. Bang went the pistol and whirr went the legs of Romeo in a skirt dance, minus the skirts.

"Get a move on yourself!" When the smoke from the shot accompanying the request cleared away Romeo was seen to be performing a cross between a Virginia breakdown and a Tarrara Boom-de-ay quickstep. Danais was a little better pleased with the entertainment, but not satisfied.

"Keep a-hoppin'!" Crack went the pistol again, and Romeo threw Yam, Shauter, which into the shade. He hopped, skipped and jumped until he was ready to collapse from sheer exhaustion, and then Danais mixed mercy with his might. His gun was empty. Police investigation led to nothing that would warrant an arrest. The attaches of the saloon confessed that there had been some shooting, but asserted that it was the result of a pistol accidently dropping from the bar to the floor. Some of the spectators, who retired after the first shot was fired, and viewed the remainder of the entertainment from cover, substantially describe it as it is here given.

In an address prepared by Hon. A. L. Peterman for the State Teachers' Association at Paducah, and published in the Home and School, occurs a statement, based upon an admitted familiarity with educational matters in Kentucky, which will surprise most people. Mr. Peterman says: "It would be startling news to other parts of the State to learn that the mountains surpass them in the growth of education. In no other section does the public school system possess the life and vigor that it shows in the mountains. If we now form the rear guard, we are consoled by the fact that we are moving rapidly to the front. The people value the system more highly, and reverence it more deeply than in any other part of Kentucky. Educational meetings are better attended, the interest is more earnest. In point of popular interest in public schools, I should class the mountains first, Western Kentucky second, and Central Kentucky third. Witness a Teacher's Institute in a typical Blue-grass county; see the small, silent, tongue-tied-looking audience; notice the derisive smile when the nobility of teaching is hinted; hear the teachers plead to be excused from duty and apologize for being engaged in the work. Go thence to a mountain institute, see the crowded house, the hearty good cheer, good will, the enthusiastic discussions; hear the members proudly talk school and then tell me where Kentucky's educational problem lies."

In the formation of these Clubs

Eight Vice Presidents, Recording and Corresponding Secretaries and Treasurers are elected. An initiation fee of one dollar is charged everywhere.
From these Columbian Clubs Committees will be appointed to solicit exhibits of woman's work in their respective communities. Clubs have been organized at Louisville, Lexington, Newport, Covington, Paris, Versailles, Hopkinsville, doing efficient work. As the time is limited it is especially urged that the other towns take the matter in hand at once and commence the formation of these Clubs.

Miss Lucy Hill, on being notified, will be pleased to visit each town and assist in the organization of these Columbian Clubs.

They Prefer to Come Here.

The United States must seem to the emigrating class almost a second Garden of Eden, they are so determined to come here. We not only offer, special inducements but, on the contrary, pay many advances in the way of their coming, and no longer receive them with anything that might be interpreted as a sign of welcome. This desire of the lower class of foreigners to come to this part of America, rather than to emigrate to other sections of the continent is very noticeable. So anxious are some of the Southern Republics for these emigrants, who we are seeking to keep away by law from landing on our shores, that their governments offer
very liberal inducements to have them settle in their various territories. The government of Nicaragua, for instance,
gives to each married emigrant 240
acres of land, and to every single one of more or less, a bounty of five cents for each tree.

sir," he said, and he looked it, for he was scared half to death.
"Can you tell me what I should do?" responded the physician, putting his finger on his pulse.

"The doctor said I had a whole scholarship of symptoms."

"You need change of scene and air,"
finally remarked the doctor. "You ought to travel."

The young man grew heroic on the spot. "I-I am in love," he stampered. "I want to marry your daughter."

The physician dropped his patient's hand, and looked at him in moment in claimed, "why you should travel.

Cash system, we have said time and again that it was better both for the people and the dealer. And this is proven when tried. The merchant has no time for editorialists and news
gathering, and every man more time to look into his business. Besides they are never cramped. The consumers get better prices and the dealer, saving money and then if they have not the ready cash the article
can be done without and had lines obviated. The firm with the courage to adopt strictly cash business in a credit city should be patronized above
all others, such firms protect them-

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Tempo for the Week Ending Feb. 13.
Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.
Topic: How to pray. Nehemiah's example.
Neh. 1: 1-11. Jas. 5: 16-18.
The spirit of prayer is as universal as the spirit of religion. From the first of Adam's first petition to the last cry
of an afflicted soul a cloud of incense has continually risen before God. Prayer has been so universal because it is so believed that the One to whom they prayed was able and willing to answer their requests. Christians have been especially firm in this belief, with the natural result that prayer has been constant and earnest. In the Scripture and in
of two hundred and eighty of praying men. Such is Nehemiah. Hearing that his brethren in Palestine are faring poorly, he appeals to God in their behalf and leaves a model of how to pray.
What are some of the characteristics of true prayer as exemplified in the prayer of Nehemiah?

1. A proper acknowledgment of God (Neh. 1: 5). This is expressed in his intercessory address, which is, "O Lord,
sacred, and to every part of the world
keepeth covenant and mercy for them that love him." Prayer should always be introduced by a proper acknowledgment of the greatness and goodness of God.
Thus Jesus in his model prayer taught us to pray, when he began, "Our Father in heaven." The wonderful attributes of God make him such a God as it is good for us to pray to, and these attributes should be mutually expressed.
2. Earnest entreaty (Neh. 1: 6, 11).
This is expressed in the appeals, "I beseech thee," and "Let thine ear be attended," etc. Nehemiah is not content with God. He displays a spirit of great earnestness, showing his faith in God's ability to hear and answer his prayer, and showing also his great desire to be heard.
3. Earnestness and importunity are necessary to success in prayer. So Jesus taught us in the parable of the persistent widow. The widow's request simply because of her importunity. God delights in our earnestness, and we should in prayer have the spirit of the widow. When he said, "I will not let thee go, except thou bless me."

4. Humble confessions (verses 6, 7).
In these verses Nehemiah humbly acknowledges the sin of his family and his people. He confesses that they had "not kept the commandments, nor the precepts, nor the judgments of the Lord.
Confession of sin is absolutely necessary to success in prayer. John says, "If we know not sin, we have deceived ourselves, and the truth is not in us, and we forgiveness our sin." Humble confession should always characterize our petitions to God. We should confess our sinfulness and after in worthiness of all God's blessings. The Lord loveth a humble and contrite heart.

5. A hearing of God's promises (verses
8, 9). "Remember the word that thou commanded Moses." God has promised to hear and answer our prayers, and he has taught us by precept and example that we are to recall these promises and plead them in prayer. Thus will we have what James calls, "the effectual confession of every prayerer of a righteous man [which] availeth much."

The Epworth League.

The opening of the Epworth league's new western headquarters in Chicago
recently marked a big step in the progress of the league. It is exclusively a Methodist Episcopal league, and was organized in the interests of the young people and of the church. The league
now has 21 chapters, and has 4,000
members, with a membership of 700,000, while the 1,000 chapters each in the southern and Canadian church districts bring the total membership up to nearly a million.

The object of the league is to promote intelligence and loyalty in the young members and friends of the church and to train them in works of mercy and help. Any young people's society may become a member of the league, and that it adopts its aims and general plans.
It is governed by a board of control, consisting of five members appointed by the board of bishops. Every chapter of the Sunday School union, five by the managers of the tract society and two from each general conference district.
The league meets annually, and the numbers hold office for two years.

God helps the Brave.
A great deal of useless sympathy is in this day expended upon those who start life without social or monetary help.
Those are most to be congratulated who have at the beginning a rough struggle with circumstances. John Smith sets it down as one of his calamities that in early life he had "nothing to endure."
A petted and dandied childhood makes a weak and timid man. No brave of character without compulsory exertion.
The man who is strong in the world's financial and political elevations are those who did their own climbing. Misfortune is a rough nurse, but she raises giants.

Let our young people, instead of consumming to the influences that would keep them back and down, use the parallel bars and dumbbells and weights of a gymnasium, by which they are to get muscle for the strife. Content with the easy way of the world, they achieve it. God is always on the side of the man who does his best. God helps the man who tries to overcome difficulties.—Rev. T. De Witt Tamm.

Wanderer's Song.

Whom God rewards with fullest measure
He sends into the world to win.
He shows him all the fairy treasures
Of wealth, of honor and of sin.
The brooks from rock to rock are singing
Their hymns; on high the angels rejoice.
Who would not I with them be singing
Who would not I with them be singing.
With happy hearts, with merry voices,
For he who walks all nature's floor,
Who watches over the swallows' flight
And holds the planets in their orbit,
He, too, will lead my steps aright!—

To Offset City Attraction.

Why should not each farm neighbor provide for itself, so far as possible, suitable amusements and entertainments for the winter season?
It is for these that not merely the young folks, but many of the older ones also go to the cities in winter, though knowing well that they will spend in going and coming and while in the city more money than would fall to their share to pay to provide equally attractive home entertainments.
There are always churches closed all the week except Sunday, and the entertainment ought not to be of the character that would make it improper for a church. A series of lectures for one winter evening per week may be arranged in many country towns, largely by drawing on home talent.
Schools for singing would perhaps profitably occupy another evening.
The Grange ought to take the lead in such movements, as we are glad to know that it is doing in some localities.
It will not be many years before electric railroads will bring all the older-settled portions of rural neighborhoods into close relation with cities. Let them add to their own natural attractions, and they will draw residents from the city even, as in years the country has been drawn upon to build up the cities.—Am.

Value of Eucalyptus Oil.

Chas. Froude, the perfumer, has been quietly at work for some time getting things together for the manufacture of essential oils, and is now manufacturing pure eucalyptus oil
and a variety of other oils for use.
It also makes eucalyptus water for bathing. This is a sovereign remedy for rheumatism, neuralgia and throat troubles. Oil of eucalyptus is coming more and more into general use as a remedy for colds and coughs, but is of value only when it is fresh. After it stands a few months it becomes rancid and turns to turpentine. Mr.
Froude also manufactures a variety of perfumery water, a very pleasant and healthful beverage.—Riverside, (Cal.)

The Memphis Appeal-Avalanche thinks the State of Kentucky has made no mistake in selecting Lindsay to fill Carlisle's seat in the Senate. It says:

"The nomination of Judge William Lindsay, to succeed John G. Carlisle, seems to the Senate one of the ablest since in Kentucky. He is a splendid specimen of brain and brawn, and he will maintain the reputation of his State in Congress. The Legislature of Kentucky is to be congratulated on having selected the ablest man who was a candidate for the honor. We greet that Senator Lindsay will at once rank with men like Miller, Sherman, George, Harris and Hale, for he is the peer in intellect of any man in the Senate."

A Story About Judge Lindsay.

(Salt Lake Tribune.) Judge Lindsay is the gentleman who called upon President Harrison a year or two since and reaching the President's presence, found him in earnest conversation with another gentleman who was trying to urge some measure upon the President, whereupon the President said: "I have doubts about the constitutionality of that proposed measure," and the reply was: "There can be no doubt; I have studied the question thoroughly and I am perfectly satisfied on that point." And then the President, turning to Judge Lindsay, said: "With your permission, Judge, we will argue this case right here; you will be the Judge." The gentleman, having the affirmative upon the debate, and it will reply: Whereupon a formal court was instituted at once, Judge Lindsay at once took the chair, the other gentleman if it case, the President replied, "I will right right there gave and said. It was a little episode of how much human nature there is, no matter what their G. O. P. be."

Friend, Col. John P. Salver, of West Liberty, was in Frankfort the week, securing legislative endorsement in behalf of his candidacy for Assistant Clerk of the United States Senate. Mr. Salver has had much experience as Clerk of the National House of Representatives, and few men possess superior qualifications for the position he seeks. He is a sterling Democrat, and a gentleman who enjoys a wide acquaintance among those engaged in National politics, is prominent and popular in his own section, and here's hoping he may "get home."

At last has been busy among the prominent ones of our Nation, for a time past. In the list of those who have answered his call in the last few weeks, are to be found the names of ex-President Hayes, Gen. Butler, Justice Lamar, Senator Kansas, ex-Secretary Blaine, Judge Campbell, Bishop Brooks and Gen. Doubleday. All men who figured prominently in their several spheres.

THE WHISKEY TRUST.

Hon. Don M. Dickinson, who is regarded as President-elect Cleveland's personal representative, is in Washington working in the interest of the Andrews bill for the repeal of the Sherman silver law. Mr. Dickinson is out-spoken in favor of the annexation of Hawaii, and in this he is in line with seven-tenths of Congress, without regard to politics. The Hawaiian Commissioners arrived today, and tomorrow they will present their petition for annexation.

There are no many complications that would have to be met if an act of Congress annexing Hawaii is to be passed, and in the course of the delay, which would necessarily ensue, some foreign Government might, by a revolution or other means, secure control of the country, that it is probable that the outcome will be the adoption of some quicker method of asserting American control and warning foreign Governments to keep their hands off. There is no politics in this, simply Americanism, and be it said to his credit, Mr. Harrison has consulted as freely with the prominent Democrats in Congress as with members of his own party.

Notwithstanding the threats cast from London as to what England intended to do, it can be stated without exaggeration that the intentions of England or any other nation is cutting no figure whatever in this matter. Hawaii is going to pass under the control of the United States. That much is certain, but it is not yet decided just how it is to be done. Another point in the situation is that Hawaiian sugar producers will not be paid the bounty of 2 cents a pound now paid to Americans under the McKinley law, which some allege to have been the cause of the revolution and application for annexation. Whatever the cause there are many good reasons for our not neglecting opportunity to get control of the islands.

The majority report of the House Judiciary Committee, which investigated the Homestead labor troubles, has attracted wide attention. It was written by Representative Boutwell, of Louisiana, who says therein that he finds nothing in the Constitution which authorizes Congress to interfere with, regulate, or prohibit the employment of Pinkerton or other detectives, by person or corporations, except so far as they may be engaged in interstate commerce. "The trouble at Homestead," continues the report, "was beyond Federal or Congressional jurisdiction. To permit interference by the Federal authorities, without demand of the States, or to make laws which would control or effect the relations of employer and employee in the States, would be to undermine the just authority of the States and to interpose Federal authority upon subject of which the States have, and ought to have, supreme control."

20 of the 29 Senators that voted against the anti-option bill when it was finally passed by the Senate were from Democrats, and 11 of the 40 votes cast in favor of the bill were from Democrats. Four Democrats were paired and did not vote.

The investigation of the whiskey trust, authorized by the House, will be conducted by a sub-committee composed of Representatives Hyman of Indiana; Stockdale, of Mississippi; Buchanan, of New Jersey and Power of Vermont.

There was a general surprise when the Senate voted down a motion made by Senator Sherman to make the Nic-argus Canal bill the "unofficial business" of the Senate, which would have given it the right of way every day after 3 o'clock. There is hardly one chance in ten that this bill can get through the present House, but it has been supposed that the Senate intended to pass it anyway. Perhaps after all it will go to join the numerous other matters that are stated to be left over for the Fifty-third Congress to wrestle with.

Representative Fellows, of New York, is chairman of the committee that will investigate the spending of Panama Canal money in the United States. Col. Fellows is a shrewd lawyer, and as a skilful cross-examiner has few equals. Furthermore, he is deeply interested in the subject he is investigating. All of which increases the chances for the exposure of somebody, if there is any truth in the charges that have been from time to time made, both of this country and in France, of the bribery of Americans of prominence. ex-Secretary Thompson will be on the witnesses heard. He was president of the American end of the company.

The Senate, which has only passed two of the appropriations bills, seems at last to realize that it is in a hole. Beginning today, it will meet at 11 o'clock.

If the gold in the Treasury is reduced as much this month as last, Secretary Carlisle will find less than the $100,000,000, known as the gold reserve fund, when he takes charge. There is now less gold in the Treasury than any time for many years, and of course there will have to be out whenever Treasury notes are presented for redemption.

Andrew Carnegie, accompanied by H. C. Frick and several of the Directors of the Carnegie Steel Company (limited), visited Homestead Wednesday, and during their progress through the different departments, talked freely with many of the principal workmen, both old men who had returned to work, and new ones. Mr. Carnegie expressed great surprise and gratification at what he saw. The tonnage of the Homestead works, it is said, exceeded that of any previous month in its history, and the outlook for the future of the plant is considered very bright. Mr. Carnegie also visited the Braddock works. In reply to a question as to the future prospects of the trade in steel rails, Mr. Carnegie answered: "It is bad, very bad. The steel and iron industry has been wonderfully set back, and at this time I worry to say I can not say much of the chances for the future prosperity in that direction."

In pigeon English chop-chop means quickly. A Chinese waiter in any coast city of China would hasten to bring your dinner if you said to him, "Chop-chop chop-chop chop-chop." Pigeon English is a strange mixture of Chinese, English and nondescript words. When the late King Kalakaua was in Shanghai an American gentleman called to pay his respects. The hotel porter stepped to the foot of the main stairway and called to the boy on the next floor, "That piece king top side has got?" "Is got," replied the boy, and the American was shown up to His Majesty's apartments. Another American who called at a private residence in an aristocratic quarter of Foo Chow was told by a servant that the young ladies of the family were not to be seen. This is the way the information was given: "No. 1, top side, washes; No. 2, go walkies." One of the young ladies was bathing upstairs and the other had gone out for a walk.

The First National Bank of Little Rock, Ark., is closed. It is alleged that ex-President Allis and his friends had personally taken $470,000 of the money, for which there is little security. So far as learned, Allis' indebtedness to the bank is over $700,000. President Booth says payments of considerable of this paper can be successfully resisted, and the depositors paid dollar for dollar. The First National Bank's paid-up capital is $500,000, with a claimed surplus of $100,000. The bank paid an 8 per cent. dividend to stockholders last year.

The special committee of the New York State Senate which has been investigating the Reading coal combine, recommended for passage a bill which grants two sorts of coal licenses, one which fixes the maximum charge for transporting coal and the other the maximum price to be asked for coal by the dealer.

Last week, in our write up of the Bowling murder trial, we failed to give mention of one of the most active attorneys, Hon. H. M. Woodford, who interrogated the witness for the defense and also conducted the cross examination for his side. He managed the case well and brought out everything possible in connection.

An application was made for a new trial Friday, which was overruled, and the case now goes before the Court of Appeals. Bowling was sent Lexington Saturday, where he will remain until the day set for his execution, April 14th, or until after action of the Court of Appeals, which may say justice for a while.

Edward Baxter Perry.

Ripened by ten years of assiduous study in Europe, his talent is of a high order both by nature and art. He has strength and refinement, the slinging and the bravura style, passion and sentiment, precision and delicacy. He will be warmly welcomed by the elite of Cincinnati whenever he comes and with that cordial appreciation.—Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

Mrs. Addie Samuels has secured Mr. Perry to present our people with a splendid musical entertainment at the Opera House Thursday evening. Reserved seats at Lloyd's.

On Thursday, February 2, at the Grassy Lick Church, Rev. D. P. Ware, the pastor, officiating, Miss Elizabeth, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Mason and W. H. Ramsey, of Clark county, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. The bride was radiantly beautiful in white silk and veil of tulle. The ushers were, J. D. Hunt, R. A. Mason, D. Howell and G. G. Roberts. Maid of honor, Miss Annie, sister of the bride. Best man Mr. Clayton, brother of the groom. The church was handsomely decorated with flowers and evergreens. Miss Lillie Orser played the wedding march and all went merrily as a marriage bell. The presents were many and costly. An elegant luncheon was served to the ushers and immediate family on Wednesday. We wish the young couple a long and happy life.

Adam Baum, wife and daughter, Miss Macie, were in Cincinnati last week to see Mrs. Rhea in Camille and Josephine, Empress of the French. Mrs. Rhea, in stage language, is handsome, and is supported by the finest talent. Edgar Baum is with her, and he played Gaston in Camille, and Duke of Dantle in Josephine, Empress of the French. They played all last week at Pike's Opera House. Mr. Baum was too modest to compliment his son, but we know about him just the same. Edgar, as a boy, was almost up to professionals, and his education for the stage has given him a prominent part and placed him, where only talent can win with the very best company. Mrs. Rhea makes only such cities as Cincinnati, Philadelphia and New York.

Next season she expects to make Lexington in her circuit. Edgar is looking well, and plays exceedingly well. We know his parents and sister were well pleased, though they do not talk outside the home circle. Edgar is a bright young man, temperate in all things, a hard and systematic student, and some day our prediction that he will attain to the highest fame in his profession will be verified.

A Series of Accidents.

During the time of church service Sunday morning a slight rain fell which froze as it struck the ground, and when the congregations of the several churches were dismissed a number of our citizens suffered from falls on the slippery pavements. Mrs. B. F. Dorsey came down the steps at the Southern Presbyterian church, and missing her footing, fell and dislocated an ankle. The hurt is severe and she suffered much pain. She was removed to her home and medical attention given.

Mrs. Wm. Hays moved out of the Christian Church and on the stone crossing to the New Farmers Bank fell and fractured a bone. The hurt is a serious one, since the fracture is at the neck of the femur. She was taken to Judge H. C. McKee's residence, medical aid summoned, and all that could be done that was possible to make her comfortable, was done for her by her physician and friends. Later in the afternoon she was placed on a spring cot and a dozen gentlemen carried her by hand to her home, two and a half miles from the city.

Among others who fell, but escaped without serious accident, were John H. Sharp, of Sharp, Trimble & Denton, C. D. Grubbs, of Grubbs & Hazelrigg, Rev. Alex. Redd and Addie Dudley Wilson.

THE ADVOCATE. SECRETARY FOSTER

Things in a Mass and an Invest-tion Demanded.

An Embarrassed Treasury.

Secretary Foster's detailed statement of the condition of the Treasury, of which we have printed a summary, is another affair of bookkeeping. Out of the mazes of its figures, however, we find a result strangely at odds with his own claim of a surplus.

Mr. Foster states that his available cash revenue for the current fiscal year will be $406,671,350, and he estimates that his expenditures will be $464,671,350, leaving a surplus at the end of the year of $2,000,000. He also states that he has about $27,000,000 on hand, in addition to the $100,000,000 gold reserve. Mr. Foster knows that this sum is not available. It is a genuine, however, as his prospective $2,000,000 surplus.

But he fails to count in his expenditures the liabilities owing and not paid, the appropriations for which he has held up. The amount of these is $61,474,000, while $23,432,000 is "authorized" but not appropriated for.

On his own showing, therefore, Mr. Foster has in fact nothing on hand in excess of the amount of debts due and unpaid that is available for paying debts. There is, on his own statement, a deficiency of at least $36,000,000 to be anticipated by the end of the fiscal year. The payments due on river and harbor improvements alone would consume all Mr. Foster's alleged balance except the gold reserve.

Juggling with the books will cover up deficiencies for a while, but there will always come a time when angry creditors demand cash instead of bookkeeping, and to that time the Republican Administration and the Billion Dollar Congress have about brought the country.—New York World.

A Good Butter Market.

The Maine Farmer says the opening year is showing a good outlook for the butter-makers. It says with a short supply at this mid-winter time, and the held butter substantially used up there can be no question, but high figures will rule for some months to come. Maine dairymen with their cows fresh in milk, are in for good returns and are always right for winter dairying. Food and care for the cows well, and they will give good return for it. No stock business stands by a farmer and his farm in a long run better than the well cared for dairy cow. This has long been the case in the past and never promised better for the future than at the present time. By the way, this is a good time to stock up with cows. On account of the short supply of hay they can be bought at reasonable prices. Even the pure bred stock has become so plentiful as to bear no selling value above the reach of any good farmer. There never was a better time to get up a dairy business.

Last year a saloon-keeper made the attempt to import bar-malms from London. Twenty-four hours after this announcement was made, telegrams and letters had gone to the White-Hillbombers, urging them to concentrate upon this new outrage upon woman. These petitions were immediately drawn up and issued by Mrs. Mary T. Bart, President of the New York State W. C. T. U., and her twenty-four co-workers of the Empire State—concentrated their efforts upon Albany, and a law was passed prohibiting the sale of women in the drug-shops of that Commonwealth.—Ex.

The State Board of Valuation has decided to assess distilled spirits in bonded warehouses at $12 per barrel.

Cut flowers are now brought from San Francisco to Chicago in special refrigerator cars. The freight charges between the two cities amount to $2.25 per hundred if trains are run on approximate passenger time, and the charge for taking back the empty cars is $105 each. With roses selling in Chicago at from $3 to $18 a dozen it is believed that the enterprise is destined to become successful. Of course it can be carried on only in winter.

Receivers have been appointed to take charge of the Northwestern Iron Company. The liabilities are about $2,025,000.

Nitro-glycerine, the powerful heart-stimulant administered to Mr. Blaine by his physicians, is very rarely resorted to, and when it is the dose is extremely small. One 45th part of a drop will produce very decided effects such as a loss of consciousness. Its action is like that of nitrite of amyl, producing violent flushing as though the head would burst; an excessive action of the heart and a sense of suffocation with muscular weakness. The use of the drug is the most infrequent quantities would produce fatal results after continued administration for any length of time. It is sometimes administered in the form of pellets, three sizes being made—1, 200, 1-100 and 1-500 grains each, the latter being the largest dose ever given and that in very rare cases. The use of these pellets is a dangerous one, as nitro-glycerine can only be handled when the temperature is below the freezing point and then only with the most extreme caution.

Something To Remember.

If you're a weak or ailing woman, that there's only one medicine so sure to help you that it can be guaranteed. It's Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. In building up overworked, feeble, delicate women, or in any "female complaint" or weakness, if it ever falls to benefit or cure, you have your money back. It's an invigorating, restorative tonic, a soothing and strengthening nerve, and a safe and certain remedy for women's ills and ailments. It regulates and promotes all the proper functions, improves digestion, enriches the blood, dispels aches and pains, brings refreshing sleep, and restores health and strength.

Nothing else can be as cheap. With this, you pay only for the good you get.

A Poor Man's College.

The Harvard College overseers decide that students of limited means shall continue to have the preference in the awarding of scholarships at Harvard. That is to say, were two students of equal merit as to their standing in college apply for a scholarship, the one who needs the money most shall be preferred. This conclusion looks reasonable, though it deprives the wealthier class of students of any incentive for striving for these honors.—Boston Herald.

A Wonder Worker.

Mr. Frank Hoffman, a young man of Burlington, Ohio, states that he has been under the care of two prominent physicians, and used their treatment until he was not able to get around. They pronounced his case to be Consumption and incurable. He was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, and at that time not able to walk across the street without resting he found before he had used a half dollar bottle, that he was much better. He continued to use it and is to-day enjoying good health. If you have any Throat, Lung, or Chest trouble try it. We guarantee satisfaction. Trial bottle free at

Opposition to steamship service just established by the Panama Railroad Company has forced the Pacific Mail Steamship Company to reduce its passenger rates to Colon from New York, a journey of eight days, from $90 to $20, and its freight rate from $9 to $2 per ton.

It is stated in Washington that Mr. Cleveland is determined to stop what he considers the dangerous hoarding of silver, and if the present Congress fails to repeal the Sherman Purchase law an extra session will be called within thirty days after his inauguration.

Parliament was opened with a speech from the throne last Wednesday. Lord Salisbury bitterly denounced the policy of the government, particularly those features pertaining to Home rule. He said the Irish policy was an effort to get the support of the criminal classes, the defense of murderers and the release of dynamiters.

The Hatch Anti-Opium bill, which has occupied so much time in the United States Senate was passed Tuesday by a vote of 40 to 29. The bill was passed by the House, but the Senate added several amendments that the House will have to consider. When it comes before the latter a hard fight will be made to prevent a vote being reached. Its opponents hope to be able to filibuster until the session and thus prevent its passage.

The strike in the Brooks Locomotive works is probably over. Nearly two-thirds of the 1,100 men are at work again and all is quiet.

A large number of whisky trust speculators are after William C. Whitney, alleging that he fooled them in whisky trust stock, whereby they lost heavily.

Capt. Taylor, of Ft. Brady, Mich., will be tried by court martial for conduct unbecoming an officer for murdering his servant girl, who was of doubtful reputation.

Charles Rapp, a tailor, and Lewis Franklin, a travelling man, were found dead in the rooms of the former, in Davenport, Iowa. A gas pipe had burst, and the two deaths resulted from asphyxiation. Four other persons occupying adjoining rooms were discovered insensible, but are out of danger.

Albert Herberle has discovered a body of meteoric iron near San Antonio, Texas. It is estimated that the weight of the extinct meteor is 10,000 pounds. Prof. Gustav Meyer, geologist and chemist, has just completed an assay of the iron, resulting as follows: .975 per cent pure iron, .25 per cent nickle and traces of cobalt.

Albert Hoffman, aged 23, shot himself in the stomach at Reno Nevada, causing a fatal wound. He went into Weiskamp's saloon and offered to bet the bar-keeper $3 he would kill himself that night. The bet was accepted, the money put up and Hoffman went home and won the bet. He was neither drunk nor apparently crazy.

Milwaukee is to be the headquarters of a big window glass combine, which will include nearly all the leading window glass manufacturers of the country. A character will be applied for in a few days, and a meeting will be held at Chicago to compel the organization. Ninety-five per cent of the manufacturers and jobbers of the country are in the deal.

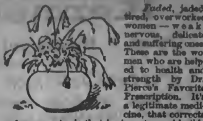

While the last honors were being paid over the remains of James G. Blaine at Washington, last Monday afternoon, regular funeral services were held in the Congressional Church in Augusta, so that the people among whom the departed statesman began his career might attest their regard for him as a man and their sorrow at his death. The church was filled, over 1,000 persons being present including the clergyman of the city.

Arguments on the bill to compel the World's Fair Directors to open the gates on Sunday, because the fair is located on public grounds, were begun last Monday before Judge Foley, of Chicago. The attorneys for the bill cited all the bills of rights enacted since the time of Emperor Justinian to show that any man on earth has the right to walk into Jackson Park on any day he pleased. It was also alleged that the Park Commissioners had no right to turn the place over to a corporation, and that the latter had no right to charge for admission to the park.

A case has just been decided by the United States Supreme Court in favor of ex-Captain Sime Marshal, a man of Maine, which means much to United States Marshals throughout the country. He sued to recover considerable damages and fees and disbursements from March 9, 1886, to October 1, 1888, payment of which had been refused by officials of the Treasury Department on the ground that the claim was not a just one. The suit was brought in the United Circuit Court and decided in Marshal's favor, he getting a verdict for the full amount and for costs. Appeal was taken to the court of last resort, and that tribunal has ratified the judgment of the court below. One of the points decided, and probably the one of most interests to other Marshals, is that the expense of travel of a Marshal to any number of localities may be treated as a collective trip to and from his headquarters, even if the visits are accomplished by one trip and without returning to his headquarters until all the localities have been visited. This means a good deal to Marshals whose claims, similar to the plaintiff's in this case, have not been allowed.

Governor Abbott, of New Jersey, has sent in the following nomination: William Walter Phelps, to succeed Jonathan S. Whitaker as Lay Judge of the Court of Error and Appeals.

Rev. Howard Macquerry, whose separation from the Episcopal Church some time ago created a sensation, and who now lives in Michigan, is to go to the Universalist Church at Dubuque, Iowa, as a candidate for the vacant pulpit.

Read, indeed, overworked, tired, nervous, delicate, and suffering ones. These are the women who are helped to health and strength by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a legitimate medicine, that corrects and cures a tone that invigorates and builds up a system that soothes and strengthens. And if it doesn't do what its makers claim for it, they don't want your money. For all the functional derangements, pale, discolored, and chronic weaknesses that afflict womanhood, the "Prescription" is a safe and certain remedy—guaranteed to cure. In "female complaints" of every nature, peevishness, nervousness, internal inflammation and hemorrhage, and all kindred ailments—it is found to benefit or cure, you have your money back. No other medicine for women is sold on such trying terms. If any could be, you may be sure that it would be. It is something else which pays the dealer better, likely to be "just as good."

The Hydrotypes.

M. Crox has devised a kind of reversed collotype, in which a plate coated with bichromated gelatine is exposed under a transparency until the most exposed portions are so acted upon that they refuse to swell in water. The bichromate is now washed out, and the plate is immersed in an aqueous dye, which is absorbed by those parts of the film which have not been hardened by exposure, and so a very perfect and vigorous transparency results. If a sheet of moistened paper be pressed down on the film, a print in the dye or color results, but M. Crox deals with the matter rather from the point of view of the transparent reproduction. The plate being dried and slightly rinsed, sufficient coloring matter remains on the film. Old plates will give as plain gelatinized glass, if we remove the bromide by the hyposulphite bath and wash. If the plates have been developed, the image may be removed by the following bath:

Ferricyanide potassium..... 3 parts
Sodium hyposulphite..... 10 "
Water..... 100 "
This solution must be used while fresh. The plates are now sensitized in a three per cent solution of ammonium bichromate, and after drying, are exposed in the printing frame for about the time that would be required in the case of an ordinary silver print. Thorough washing is now required, followed by a second development. The plate is now stained with an aqueous solution of the coloring matter. Any aniline or other dye soluble in water may be used. It should be noted, says Photography, that plates which have been treated with alum are unsuitable for this process, as alum hardens the whole film.

There is now and then a preacher who has nothing about him to make you think he is religious but his white coat.—Ham's Horn.

The New York Sun regrets that so few American boys are inclined to learn a trade. In the old days the apprentice had to live in his employer's family until he was 21. This would not suit the modern youth, but in his estimation, is a man long before he reaches the age indicated. Indeed, he is often seen speculating in stocks before his moustache begins to sprout.—Lyon Item.

The Cherokee boomers are massing on all sides of the Cherokee strip awaiting the action of Congress on the present proposition of the Cherokee to sell the land to the Government for settlement. Major Gordon W. Little, "Pawnee Bill," declares that there are at least 3,000 located within a radius of 10 miles surrounding Arkansas City, and he also believes there are at present 20,000 boomers waiting on the border of the Cherokee strip for Congress to take some action.
